Telephone translation services available
(100+ languages)

Fees: None

Eligibility Requirements: HIV+ for AIDS legal services. For other services, low-income meeting income guidelines.

Application Procedure: Apply by phone.

Services: East Bay Community Law Center (EBCLC) provides free legal services for low-income persons in the following practice areas: Community Economic Development, Decriminalization of Poverty, HIV/AIDS Law and HIV/AIDS Immigration Law Project, Housing & Eviction Defense and Income & Employment Support.

- ♦ Community Economic Development (CED) practice provides assistance to community groups and coalitions working toward long-term, innovative solutions to poverty in the East Bay. Building on previous efforts such as the development of the People’s Credit Union, construction sector apprenticeship and living wage efforts, the CED practice supports grassroots economic justice campaigns through the provision of technical assistance, legal search, policy and media advocacy, popular education, community outreach, coalition development support and litigation.
- ♦ Decriminalization of Poverty (DCOP) the practice provides services for people criminalized by homelessness or poverty. Legal services include self-help instruction, directed referrals to available service providers (both legal and non-legal) and direct advocacy and representation on criminal records expungement, homeless status citations and warrants. The Unit also works on local policy initiatives to remove barriers to stable employment, housing and civic participation and conducts community education presentations.
- ♦ HIV/AIDS Law & HIV/AIDS Immigration Law Project serves low-income HIV+ clients on a broad range of legal issues including appeals of disability benefit denials, representation at administrative hearings, housing issues, wills and durable powers of attorney, divorces, petitions for joint guardianship of children, HIV confidentiality issues and creditor-debtor issues. The HIV/AIDS Immigration Law Project provides legal services to low-income HIV+ immigrants. This includes consulting with undocumented clients to explore avenues for obtaining legal status, preparing affirmative asylum applications, self-petitions for battered women, preparing applications for citizenship and representing clients in court proceedings. The HIV/AIDS Law Unit also works on local policy initiatives and conducts community education presentations.
- ♦ Housing & Eviction Defense practice assists clients facing eviction other housing related problems. Services are provided through three main vehicles: the Low Income Eviction Project located at the Alameda County Courthouse, Tenant Workshops at EBCLC and throughout Alameda County and direct representation by an EBCLC attorney. EBCLC housing advocates work with other organizations to formulate policy on issues such as: code enforcement, increased access to housing for the disabled, preservation of affordable housing and long-term strategies to prevent homelessness.
- ♦ Income and Empowerment Support (IES) provides legal advocacy and support to families facing problems with their CalWORKs (welfare) assistance. The problems include work requirement sanctions, which are reductions in the cash grant due to purported failure to comply with employment-related requirements. They also include loss of assistance because the adults have purportedly used up their 60-month lifetime limit on aid. In addition, IES advocates help families get support services available through CalWORKs program, such as child care, education, job training, transportation, etc.

Accessibility:	Wheelchair accessible	Transportation:	Call AC Transit for bus line(s).
Languages:	N/A	Fees:	None
Eligibility Requirements:	Any and all in need.	Application Procedure:	None

Services:

NEED's central function is to make sure that a steady supply of clean syringes is made available to any and all in need, with the goal being to reduce the spread of HIV and Hepatitis C commonly associated with sharing used syringes. We offer practical and effective services to people who have few options when seeking health care.

◆ Needle Exchange: We run three needle exchange/distribution sites in Berkeley per week: Sunday 6:00 – 8:00 pm, Tuesday 4:00 – 6:00 pm, and Thursday 6:00 - 8:00 pm.

◆ Harm Reduction Supplies: At NEED's three sites, you'll find an ample supply of the following: syringes (all gauges), cotton, cookers, ties, biohazard buckets, alcohol pads. Additionally, we have pipes, screens, and brillo pads for safer crack use.

◆ Wound Care: Trained community health workers provide wound and abscess care at site on Thursdays.

◆ Overdose Prevention: Preventing an overdose is essential knowledge for anyone using injection drugs. We aim to educate users and staff alike on the basics of overdose prevention, including the use of naloxone to reverse the effect of an opiate.

◆ Food: At our Thursday site, we provide fruits, vegetables, juices and sandwiches for exchange participants and community members.

◆ Information & Referrals: At each site we have available information on a variety of providers offering services pertinent to exchange users and community members, including HIV/AIDS testing and prevention, STD testing and education.
