

HIV/AIDS Community Collaborative Planning Council (CCPC)

An Invitation to Community Members

The HIV/AIDS Community Collaborative Planning Council (CCPC) of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties provides guidance to the Alameda County Public Health Department's Office of AIDS Administration regarding priorities for HIV and AIDS care and prevention services.

The members of this CCPC come from the community at large; they volunteer their time to ensure that spending priorities reflect actual need within the County. Serious effort is made to recruit community members who represent those infected with and affected by HIV disease. People living with HIV/AIDS are especially encouraged to apply for membership.

If you are interested in becoming a CCPC member, please contact the Office of AIDS Administration, 1000 Broadway, Suite 310, Oakland, CA 94607 (510) 268-7630. For more information, visit www.hivccpc.org

The CCPC mission is to:

- stop all new HIV infections while improving the quality of life for those living with HIV disease, and
- provide services that are linguistically and culturally appropriate, that outreach to the underserved, educate all communities and reduce HIV stigma.

Values:

The CCPC acts as a catalyst to provide a continuum of high quality services for all people living with and affected by HIV/AIDS by empowering our communities, providing responsible stewardship and planning, and advocating on our communities behalf.

Vision:

The CCPC will employ a comprehensive and inclusive process, which is both data and community-input driven. Their goal is to develop an integrated model to prevent the spread of HIV while providing accessible and high quality care, for infected and affected members of the community.
